Cyber Security

Cyber threats constantly evolve with increasing intensity and complexity. The ability to achieve mission objectives and deliver business functions is increasingly reliant on information systems and the Internet, resulting in increased cyber risks that could cause severe disruption to a company's business functions or operational supply chain, impact reputation, or compromise sensitive customer data and intellectual property. Organizations will face a host of cyber threats, some with severe impacts that will require security measures that go beyond compliance. The DHS presentation provides key questions to guide leadership discussions about cybersecurity risk management for your agency/company, along with key cyber risk management concepts and available DHS resources.
